TestExpert

App privacy statement

Document version: 1.2.0.1 (March 30, 2021)

The Windows 10 TestExpert app doesn't collect, doesn't use and doesn't store any personal information, period.

Future versions of the apps might generate log data for events that occur inside the app. The app will then place such data in local log files on your computer with the purpose to track down possible faults that might occur inside the app.
These log files will never be automatically collected. When necessary you will have to send those files manually to us.

So simple!
